FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

STUDS CLOTHING DEFINING NEW GENDER TERMS
Define yourself...

Studs Clothing will benefit the readers and listeners by defining a piece of the LGBT culture through style and fashion. In addition we are building a social justice movement through workshops and performance pieces that encourage change and awareness through gender identity.

May 2007 Northridge Ca.

Schquay Brignac is the founder and head designer for Studs Clothing, which is a clothing line that defines us! In addition, an organization that gives service to the LGBT community. Studs Clothing will be traveling the world this year from LA to London to bring Studs Clothing to a school, city, pride fests, club and a store near you. Studs Clothing will have three premier performance shows for the launching of Studs Clothing in Oakland, Atlanta and NY. Studs Clothing also provides workshops and performance pieces to junior high schools, high schools and colleges as well as organized gay and straight events.

Schquay Brignac is a 23-year-old groundbreaking designer who's professional-clothing will leave any purveyor baffled as to how she began this venture a year ago. Studs Clothing is not only about looking sharp, smooth and brilliant; it's about revolutionizing the way one views, expresses and considers gender. "A clothing line that defines us!" Schquay keeps in mind the resisting spirits of all those neglected by a heterosexist culture, as she focuses on being ambitious, courageous, conscious and mindful in her sewing endeavors and service to the LGBT community. Schquay is a leader, organizer and a mentor that will serve as a great change for our culture and future.

Studs clothing is for the minority zer entity that does not fit in the rigid gender binary terms "Male" and "Female." Studs Clothing is a representation of our style, personality, spirit and being. Depending on the geographical area or persona studs also identify as Dom, Tomboyz and Butch lollys. Studs Clothing is for those studs that do not have a section to go shop at in a department store. Studs Clothing exist for freedom of the mind for gender and fashion. Studs Clothing also provides workshops and performance pieces to Junior High Schools, High Schools, Colleges and organized gay and straight events. Studs Clothing workshops are for the social identity and issues, correct vocabulary words, and dialogue. Studs Clothing also provides Performance pieces that provide awareness through artwork, clothing, dance, poetry, run way, music and more. It's Hot!

Studs Clothing vision is to create clothing that will help the youth/elders/gay/straight communities feel more comfortable about their style, beliefs, personality and Spirit. Studs Clothing is a movement of our time. We continue to take big steps within letting the heterosexual norms know that we do not need their thoughts or feelings about how to dress. Studs Clothing is a statement that we as a culture are defining ourselves and were doing it in style.

Bio -

My passion for visual art stems from my involvement in community-based sports. From age 8 to 18, I held the national record for High Jump in track and field. This experience of leadership and success has instilled in me the ability to stand proud while being connected to those individuals who have supported and honored my existence and talents. At the age of 13, I began to realize that I was a lesbian and that my gender identity was not that of a feminine woman. I was blessed to find a word that would help describe my identity: "Stud". In finding this identity, my fine art work and fashion began to flourish. At age 15 I started o pick up books and read about others who experienced my same pain. (Leslie Feinberg, gay rights movement, the healing wisdom of Africa). Then, at age 21, a tailor offered to give me lessons in the art of hand-sewing and machine stitch. Exposure to sewing released the barriers that limited my creativity. It has been this medium -- Hand-sewing and machine stitch -- that enabled me to tell stories about my journey of being a queer stud of color, drawing on my African American heritage. These stories are intricate descriptions of my own personal experiences as well as those of my friends, and those who I have met along the path of exhibiting and speaking about my work. I see my work as sculpture, and in this past year have successfully displayed my sculptures at several community events in Los Angeles, Oakland, San Francisco, Northridge and Long Beach California. These exhibits exemplify the purpose of visibility and political education concerning the body, studs, gay community and fashion.

Statement —

I am a visual artist who has been very successful in my endeavors in visual art, education, sewing, and sports. I create three-dimensional sculptures using fabric, thread. Through my art, I provide the world with sculptural work which is provocative and calls attention to the history of butches, studs, and lesbians of color in the Diaspora and internationally. These works serve as gate ways: a link between two worlds which represent the work of public speech and vulnerability, while at the same time create a community in which real transgenders, studs, butches, and lesbians can be armored against homophobia and violence. Through my art, I create a visual opportunity to provide truthful information to the world about studs and lesbian communities of color, and offer sculptural histories of fashion design tied to the political agenda of honoring stud identity and community building – be it for youth, grandparents and all spirits in-between. I focus on giving a voice to the stud and gay/lesbian/bi/trans identity. I also run a Men's varsity basketball program at Northridge High School, perform with the Tribes of the Diaspora (a multi-medium performance group), run and design for Studs Clothing (a 1-year old clothing company) as ways to mentor those in my communities. My objective is to bring truth to the world -- not just a city, hometown or segment, but the complete world -- with knowledge and understanding that stud/butch/tom boi/ dom energy breathes upon this planet.

Studs Clothing

Studs Clothing will like to offer a performance piece to Black pride. Studs Clothing is owned by a Gay Stud of African decent. "We are bridging worlds together". We are grateful to embark upon a clothing line that brings forth social justice, change, awareness and service to the world. We provide workshops to youth ages 11-25 and fashion shows for all ages. Please note that Studs Clothing fashion shows have been quoted to be "Brilliant! Exciting! And life changing". Not only do we look good doing it we also pay homage to the ancestors that have paved the way before us. Each clothing piece represents a story and is expressed through poetry, art, workshops e.t.c. Our vision is to bring awareness to the world that a Studs/Transgender/ Tom Boyz/Dom/Butch Lolly's energy exist and breathes upon this planet.

Defining yourself . . .

"Each person has the right to define their gender for themselves and express it as they please. To question ones gender identity, and explore or play with gender expressions is healthy, normally and something to be celebrated through conversation, books and clothing. We believe no one should feel obligated to unquestioning accept the gender identity assigned to them."
